The intensity of HIV infection can now be controlled to a certain extent by effective medicines and careful treatment modes. HIV positive persons can lead long and healthy lives through Anti Retro-viral Treatment (ART). Thus, their life span can be extended from ten to fifteen years or more. One cannot also rule out the possibility of the discovery of medicines, which can completely cure HIV infection, within this period.

Ushus are the Anti Retroviral Treatment (ART) centres where ART is provided free of cost. Kerala is the first state in India to start ART for HIV positive people, by meeting funds from its exchequer. Since 2005-06, NACO has approved and are totally supporting all these centres.

Anti retroviral treatment is life long and the patients has to come to the Ushus centre every month for the rest of his / her life. Distance, travel cost and inconvenience being perceived to be barriers for optimal adherence for ART, NACO has envisaged having drug distribution centres called Link ART Centres (LAC) which will be linked to the existing ART centre.
